

"NEW" APD ROTAMETER KIT (LEAK DETECTION KIT)

The APD Rotameter Kit is the most accurate, reliable and time saving piece of equipment in the gas industry designed to detect houseline leaks that previously went undetected.

The kit installs within minutes and comes in various size bushing adapters to meet your meter connection requirements. The APD Rotameter is 100% leak tested, calibrated and NIST certified, this insures the highest level of accuracy.

Where some products in the market place have the rotameter attached to the gas meter, the APD Rotameter is attached to the houseline for better accuracy and flexibility when working in tight quarters.

Accurate, reliable and easy to install the APD Rotameter Kit is the right choice when insuring the safety of your customers.

